

CALL FOR ENVIRONMENTAL SCIENCE TDK (Tudományos Diákkör - Scientific Student Research Competition)

Dear Interested Students!

The Center for Environmental Science announces the Faculty Conference of Environmental Science Scientific Student Research Competition of this academic year. Anyone interested in (1) submitting the results of a project related to environmental science and (2) presenting it to the broader scientific community within the framework of a conference should apply. We draw the attention of supervisors that the application of international students (participating in the English language curricula) is warmly welcome, too! We encourage inviting all Hungarian and international students working in the field of environmental and related sciences to the challenge!

Participants get trained in composing/writing a scientific dissertation, delivering a scientific lecture and defending it in a professional discussion. All who participate will win, but there are valuable prizes for the best and the very best: first prize winners, in addition, "complete" the task of preparing the diploma thesis, i.e., they can submit their winning dissertation as thesis work. Last but not least, their work can also be valuable at PhD school admission scoring.

Conference deadlines:

Registration: Monday, 17th November, 2025

Abstract (short summary) submission : Monday, 17th November, 2025

Dissertation submission: Monday, 25th November, 2025

Conference: Tuesday, 12th December, 2025

Dissertations / presenters deemed suitable can enter for the National Environmental Science Student Conference in the spring of 2026.

Apply electronically. The application form can be downloaded from:

<http://environment.elte.hu/page/tdk2025/?lang=en>

Please send the 1-page summary (abstract) of the dissertation in word format (.doc file), together with the application form to angyal.zsuzsanna@ttk.elte.hu by the deadline.

Please submit the dissertation only electronically (in pdf format) to angyal.zsuzsanna@ttk.elte.hu by the deadline. We do not need a print copy.

Any questions regarding the Scientific Student Competition should be sent to the above email address.

I wish you success with the preparations!

19th September, 2025

Dr. Zsuzsanna Angyal
President of the Environmental Science TDK at the Faculty